
Castillos De Carton [DVDRIP][Spanish][2009] - Castillo is a Spanish drama film that premiered in the United States on September 18, 2009. The film was both written and directed by Héctor Tercero; it stars Javier Bardem, Penélope Cruz, and María Valverde. It was number one in its opening weekend with $3 million USD earned. The plot of the film revolves around the relationship between Abel (Bardem), an octogenarian who owns an enormous castle, and Castiel (Cruz), whom he meets at a mental institution after her husband leaves her for another woman. Abel is a man who has spent his entire life working for his father, Don Benito (Fernández), in running the family business, an old castle that has fallen into disrepair. Castiel is a woman with severe depression who recently lost her husband to another woman. The film focuses on Abel, whose eccentricities and attitudes clash with Castiel's quiet nature. When Abel is asked to give Castiel some space so she can breathe, he goes further than she expected, leaving her stranded at the castle after telling her not to worry about him. This act of coldness is what breaks her heart and starts her depression again. However, it is this act that allows Castiel to gain the confidence to leave her husband. The story follows Castiel and Abel's relationship during the course of six years. The interactions between them are complicated because of their age difference and differing interests. But in spite of their conflicts, these two characters find themselves falling in love with each other.
